

AN ENVIRONMENT WHERE YOU
CAN ACHIEVE YOUR POTENTIAL
CAREER OPPORTUNITY

PROJECT DIRECTOR (DESIGNATE)

London and the South.

Attractive remuneration package and benefits.

Nautilus Roofing and Cladding is a multi-disciplinary commercial roofing and cladding contractor.

This is an exceptional opportunity to join a highly respected company with a first class reputation for service and quality.

The Project Director will play a key role in developing and growing our business and brand reputation. Liaising closely with both new and existing clients across London and the South, the Project Director will ensure the successful operational delivery of all projects.

This is a Board level role reporting directly to the Managing Director and comes with a remuneration package and benefits commensurate with its importance to the business.

Strengths:

The ideal candidate will be ambitious and both technically and contractually astute.

Driven and a great communicator, you will share our uncompromising values and passion for service and quality.

You will have a strong knowledge of flat roofing systems such as hot melt and bituminous waterproofing, cold applied liquids and single ply and be able to demonstrate a successful track record of delivering these systems to the complete satisfaction of the client.

You will be highly respected by tradespeople and main contractors for your integrity, communication and project management skills.

Knowledge and experience of cladding systems would be advantageous.

This is a unique opportunity for the successful candidate to take their career to the next level within a business that supports individuals in achieving their potential.

Please send your C.V in strictest confidence to: andrew@nautilus.co.uk or if you would prefer, contact him on: 07880 746 461.